Naval Diving, Salvage Training Staff Awarded Letter of Appreciation

PENSACOLA, Fla. -- Two members of the Naval Diving and Salvage Training Center were awarded a letter of appreciation for improving training and providing the fleet with Sailors who reflect the core values of Honor, Courage, and Commitment. The efforts of Chief Yeoman (Air Warfare-qualified) Robert L. Branch Jr., and Aviation Structural Mechanic 1st Class (Aircrew-qualified) John W. Fell, were vital in contributing to mission readiness by sending well-trained Sailors to the fleet.

Branch and Fell were instrumental in organizing and instructing a training syllabus for the staff personnel at Naval Diving and Salvage Training Center, Panama City, Fla. Their extensive knowledge provided instructional and practical application covering all aspects of Naval Rights and Responsibilities for command indoctrinations.
